

American Psychiatric Association (APA)

The American Psychiatric Association (APA) consists of 38,000+ physicians who specialize in the diagnosis, treatment, and prevention of mental illnesses. For over 160 years, the APA has provided the tools and resources to nurture and preserve the profession. The APA unites psychiatrists from around the world and brings together practice, education, and research at all levels. As the largest psychiatric membership organization in the world, we are dedicated to promoting the highest quality care for patients, providing continuing education and research into mental illnesses, and advocating for psychiatrists and their profession.
